

The Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health Quarterly Newsletter

Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health Interns teamed up with Fearless Women Ministries for the 2020 holiday season to organize a food drive for South Jersey families. The interns collected non-perishable food items and grocery store gift cards, organized the items, and loaded up the vehicles. Heather Edwards, JFCS Project SEARCH Skills Trainer, along with other volunteers from Fearless Women Ministries, delivered the meals to 30 families in time for the holidays. Steering Committee members, Business Advisory Council members, family and friends of Project SEARCH contributed to the success of the Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health food drive.

INTERVIEWING FOR SECOND ROTATION

Jessica interviewing with Elliot from Environmental Services.

Jordan interviewing with Rebecca from Patient Transport.

Project SEARCH interns completed their first 12-week internship rotation on December 23rd. Before transitioning into the second rotation, they revised their resumes and brushed up on their interviewing skills. Each intern interviewed with two or three department managers from Food Service, Storeroom, Administration, Environmental Services, Surgical Services, Physical Therapy, Patient Transport, and Pharmacy.

INTERNS TRAINING INTERNS

After each intern was offered a position in Jefferson Health departments, they began learning skills from their peers who interned in that department during the first rotation. Naitri (top left) is training Dalton in Environmental Services how to stock his cart to prepare for his daily tasks. Will (top right) is describing to Mars how to read the pick list in the storeroom. Eddie, in Food Service, is explaining to Will (bottom left) how to maintain a fully stocked refrigerator, including stocking the beverages so that the cold drinks are always in front. Owen (bottom right), who was the first intern in Pharmacy, is training Jordan to look for expired medicines and showing him where to store them after pulling them from the shelves.

Peer training is beneficial to both peers: the trainer develops communication and teaching skills, while the trainee gets an overview of the department prior to the official start.

Peer training, a Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health addition to the Project SEARCH model, was implemented by the on-site team in the program's second year.

MOVING FORWARD: SECOND ROTATION

Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health interns began their second 12-week rotation on January 4th. Interns are continuing to develop skills to prepare them for competitive employment in their communities. The second rotation runs until March 19th when they will begin their last rotation, building on the skills they've been learning since September. Pictured in the first row are Naitri in Patient Transport, Owen in Healthcare Access, and Mars in the Storeroom. In the second row are Jordan in Pharmacy, Jessica in Administration, and Dalton in Environmental Services. In the third row are Eddie in Facilities, Amelia in Surgical Services and Will in Food Service.

SNOW DAYS!

South Jersey saw upwards of a foot of snow in some parts giving Project SEARCH interns and staff not one, not two, but three snow days in the early days of February. On February 2nd, interns met remotely for their morning huddle with their skills trainers, Kelly and Heather, and Instructor, Ernie, who "assigned" them homework -- to help their families shovel snow. Part of being a Project SEARCH intern is learning responsibility, and another part is life/work balance. They definitely balanced their hard work with some winter fun. # Interns assist in move to new Patient Pavilion

Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health Interns assisted in the big move to the new Patient Pavilion in the Jefferson Cherry Hill Hospital. Lisa Dutterer, Jefferson Cherry Hill Hospital Chief Administrative Officer and Project SEARCH Business Liaison, reported that the move was completed in early December. She thanked those interns who helped, adding that she appreciated their support.

"Supply Chain," she said, was "incredibly important in the move."

William (back left) and Amelia (front right) interned in the Storeroom during their first rotation with support from skills trainers, Kelly (front left) and Heather (back right). Owen (bottom) interned in the Pharmacy.

Both departments were essential in getting hospital and pharmaceutical supplies moved over to the new Patient Pavilion.

Employment Outcome Award Received

Each year, Project SEARCH recognizes programs with exceptional employment outcomes. Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health was recognized for achieving an 88% employment outcome for the 2018-2019 program year. Usually these awards are presented at the Project SEARCH annual conference, but because of Covid-19 the 2020 conference was held virtually and the awards were mailed.

The Project SEARCH Employment Outcome Award arrived in the mail last month and is on display in the Project SEARCH training room along with the 2016-2017 and 2017-2018 awards.

TRAVEL TRAINING WITH NJTIP

Through a partnership with NJTIP, Project SEARCH interns receive training on how to schedule and ride various modes of transportation within the community. By special request, Louis Hoffman, Program Manager/Travel Instructor, and Melody Bundy, Research Coordinator, (pictured above) customized the standard travel training curriculum to offer a virtual class on the expectations of driving. One intern already drives, and several others are studying to take the written test or are practicing behind the wheel.

Graduate honored for logistics work at AtlantiCare

Please click underlined text to check out a video of the virtual award celebration.

Nicholas C., a 2019 graduate of Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health, was honored at the 2020 DEAM Award Celebration in October for his work as a logistics technician at AtlantiCare Regional Medical Center in Egg Harbor Township. The 2020 Celebration of the 75th National Disability Employment Awareness Month also marked 30 years since the signing of the Americans with Disabilities Act and 100 years since the inception of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Julia Blackwell, Director of Operations for JEVS hireAbility and MC for the virtual event, explained that she was proud to present Nick with this award. "After landing a job at AtlantiCare, Nick has been an essential worker working the entire time during the Pandemic," she said.

Tina Brand, who was Nick's DVR Counselor during Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health, explained that the year-long internship program exposed Nick to different work environments. "Project SEARCH helped him take his strengths and develop some of the areas he may have struggled with as he prepared for the work force." Brand added, "I couldn't be more proud, and it speaks to the testament of the team that worked with him and the patience that we all had in the process."

Jennifer Van Seters, Talent Acquisition Partner for AtlantiCare and a member of the Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health Business Advisory Council, first met Nick during one of the program's Reverse Job Fairs. She said, "Fortunately we were able to find a position for him in the logistics department where he has been successful."

Nick said that his job as a logistics technician at AtlantiCare makes him feel "happy and productive." Kimberly Callahan, Career Navigator with JEVS hireAbility, worked with Nick after he graduated from Project SEARCH to land the job at AtlantiCare. As his job coach, she has seen him grow and sees opportunity for continued growth at AtlantiCare. "He worked all through Covid," she said. "I'm so proud of him for doing that. He really is a hero. Like all the people who are on the front lines - he is one of those."

2020 Grad spots counterfeit bill

Chris worked during high school stocking refrigerators at Wawa. Wanting to remain with Wawa after graduation from Project SEARCH, Chris advocated for himself, gained more hours and expanded his role.

Attention to detail -- a natural strength he perfected picking hospital supplies during his Project SEARCH internship -- served him well recently when he identified a counterfeit bill while working the cash register. Chris's ability to multi-task makes him a shoo-in as a Customer Associate, chatting with customers while ringing up their purchases simultaneously!

With his hard work, desire to learn more, and dedication to his aspirational goal, Chris saved enough money to purchase a new car.

BAC MEMBER SUE LEARN, DIY MEDIA GROUP HONORED BY JFCS

Sue Learn, VP of Human Resources of DIY Media Group, was honored at Jewish Family and Children's Service's 2020 Dubrow Vocational Celebration. DIY Media Group, a Pennsauken-based company that services artists, authors and film makers in marketing their material, was recognized for its commitment to inclusion for all.

At the virtual celebration held in November, Karen Marks, JFCS Supported Employment Manager, said through JFCS's partnership with Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health, Learn and JFCS first connected.

Learn said she saw the great opportunity for a partnership when she was first introduced to JFCS at the Project SEARCH Business Advisory Council meeting. "DIY had been making a concerted effort to increase diversity," Learn said, "and at the same time we were struggling to find workers with strong work ethic who would show up to work and be on time every day."

DIY wanted to partner with JFCS to fill several positions. Through this partnership, they hired Matt K., a JFCS client of 10 years who was honored along with Learn at the Celebration. Learn said she appreciates Matt for his strong work ethic and demonstration of company values.

DIY's values were exemplified when the company recognized the need for PPE during the height of the Covid-19 pandemic and pivoted to manufacturing face shields for front line workers. "There was a demand for PPE everywhere, and all our resources went to face shield assembly," Learn said.

Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health BAC to host Virtual Job Fair

Project SEARCH at Jefferson Health Business Advisory Council (BAC) members support the Project SEARCH program by mentoring the interns and networking in the community. On January 25th, BAC members conducted virtual mock interviews with the interns to prepare them for the virtual job fair scheduled for March 8th. At the job fair, participating employers will have an opportunity to interview interns who have gained valuable transferable work experience during the Project SEARCH program year.

To participate in the job fair, contact BAC Members Janeene Martin, JFCS Project SEARCH Job Developer, at jmartin@jmartin@jfedsnj.org and/or Angel Lucas, JEVS/hireAbility at angela.lucas@jevshireability.org.

Other BAC members include Barbara Abrams, JFCS; Cheryl Casciano, NJ DVRS; Michelle Clark, Clark Management; Debbie Deissroth, BAC Chair, DD Coaching and Consulting; Carl Donato Jr., Wawa; Jill LaPan; Sue Learn, DIY Media Group; Mark Ludes, MBB Management; Kyle McCormick, Occupational Training Center; and Jennifer Van Seters, AtlantiCare.

The 2020-21 BAC welcomes new members Kate Burch, Grace Management Company; Rob Deissroth, DD Coaching and Consulting; and Brett Levin, MHS Lift.

Thank you to all BAC members for supporting Project SEARCH.
