

Compass Series 2023-24

Navigating Your Child's Future

Middle School, High School, Young Adult Years

The Compass Series is underway! Stay with us throughout the series for valuable virtual and in-person opportunities designed to help parents/caretakers have a practical plan for the years ahead to guide their child, teen or young adult.

COMING UP NEXT

Wednesday, February 7 7:00 pm on Zoom

Financial Readiness with Special Needs Expert, Michael Byrne

Families find the financial aspects of “aging-out” after high school an obstacle course of benefits, eligibility, applications, and sometimes, complicated appeals. Gathering information – preferably in advance of age 18 helps pave the way for smoother planning for adult services. Michael Byrne draws on personal experience as a father and brother of individuals with disabilities and his professional expertise in special needs planning to help families proactively prepare to navigate the system ahead.

Monday, February 12, 8:30 am - 1:30 pm at the Y.A.L.E. Performing Arts Center

Rescheduled Event (Originally January 17)

Future Focus: An In-Person Planning Workshop for Parents/Caretakers

A full-morning agenda provides outstanding guidance from essential adult agency presenters and legal experts to help parents anticipate steps toward employment, access a full range of adult services in the community, and weigh legal decisions such as forms of guardianship. Presentations are followed by a Provider Fair with more than a dozen resources ready to offer info, connections, and materials. Also talk with the Y.A.L.E. Transition team as you join us for morning coffee and enjoy a light lunch along with the Provider Fair!

All Events are free and open to the public, but you must register to reserve your spot!
